ABOUT THE COMPANY

GHD is a global professional services company, founded in 1928, specialising in engineering, construction, and architectural expertise to address the world's challenges in water, energy, and urbanisation. With over 10,000 diverse professionals across 200 offices on five continents, GHD focuses on innovative, forward-thinking solutions that deliver significant social and economic outcomes. Committed to building lasting relationships with partners and clients, the company remains wholly owned by its employees, connecting and sustaining communities worldwide.

Since its 1983 merger with LSA, GHD has maintained a permanent presence in the Wide Bay region, offering expertise in civil and structural engineering, building services, traffic analysis, stormwater modelling, town planning, urban development, water and wastewater, and project management. GHD's broader capabilities span transportation, property and buildings, water, environment, energy, and resources, providing comprehensive solutions across these sectors.
