

CQUniversity Australia provides this online will service as a convenience to users. By using this service, you acknowledge and agree to the following terms:

1. No Legal Advice: The information and materials provided through this service are for general informational purposes only and do not constitute legal advice. The University does not offer legal advice or services, and the use of this service does not create any legal relationship with the user.
2. Accuracy and Completeness: While the University strives to ensure that the information provided through this service is accurate and up-to-date, it makes no representations or warranties of any kind, express or implied, about the completeness, accuracy, reliability, suitability, or availability with respect to the service or the information contained on the service for any purpose.
3. User Responsibility: Users are solely responsible for the content and accuracy of the wills they generate using this service. The University recommends that users seek independent legal advice to ensure that their wills meet all legal requirements and accurately reflect their wishes.
4. No Liability: The University will not be liable for any loss or damage, including without limitation, indirect or consequential loss or damage, or any loss or damage whatsoever arising from the use of this service or reliance on the information provided. This includes, but is not limited to, any claims or disputes regarding the validity or enforceability of any will generated through this service.
5. Changes to Service: The University reserves the right to modify, suspend, or discontinue the service at any time without notice.

By using this service, you agree to indemnify and hold harmless the University, its officers, employees, and agents from any claims, damages, or expenses arising out of your use of the service.